The Child Appeal Scoring System (CASS) is a structured framework designed to assess the extent to which a product is likely to attract and engage children. In an environment where children are frequently exposed to a wide range of consumer products. It is increasingly important to evaluate not only the safety and compliance of these products but also their degree of child-directed appeal. Using the following score system, evaluate the product design for further risk analysis.

- 1(Low Appeal) – unlikely to engage children, mainly adult-focused.
- 2(Moderate Appeal) – contains some features that may attract children, but not intentionally child-directed.
- 3(High Appeal) – intentionally designed to be attractive to children.
- 4 (Very High Appeal) – strongly child-focused, with multiple overlapping features.

This scoring provides a clear benchmark for comparisons between products and across industries.

REACH SVHC & Proposition 65 Declaration

REACH¹ regulation (EC) No 1907/2006 concerning the Registration, Evaluation, Authorisation and Restriction of Chemicals, states in Article 33 that any supplier of an article containing a substance being included in the REACH Candidate List of Substances of Very High Concern for authorisation ('Candidate List of SVHC') in a concentration above 0.1 % weight by weight (w/w), shall provide the recipient, respectively the consumer of the article, with relevant information.

California Proposition 652 officially known as the Safe Drinking Water and Toxic Enforcement Act of 1986, aims to protect the state of California drinking water sources from being contaminated with chemicals known to cause cancer, birth defects or other reproductive harm, and requires businesses to inform Californians about exposures to such chemicals.

External Testing and Validation All textile products are sample tested by an accredited external laboratory to ensure compliance with REACH and Proposition 65 requirements. As these are articles under REACH definition, no Safety Data Sheet (SDS) is required.
